Let us not give up the habit of meeting together, as some are doing. Instead, let us encourage one another all the more, since you see that the Day of the Lord is coming nearer. (Hebrews 10:25, GNT)

A message from Pastor Hae Seon Lee:

Dear Centerville/Riceville/Parade Street family,

We have come to that time of year when we are filled with the end of year festivities. This year, unlike last year, it seems we would be blessed with being able to hold gatherings with our friends and family. As we begin to gather again, I urge you to not to forget to gather with the rest of the body of Christ in worship and other ordinances of God.

Recently, a lot of gatherings have not been necessarily joyous. In the month of October, I have led ten funerals and memorial services. This led me to countless hours of prayer for those who are mourning. In fact, our first gathering in November will be All Saints Sunday, when we will be remembering the saints who have gone before us. Likewise, our gatherings cannot always be jubilant, but we always need to remember that God is with, among, and between us regardless. We need to identify the presence of God when we gather, and God's providence will fill us with anything we are in need of.

I have many events and ministry opportunities planned for the new year. I will be sharing and planning them in the upcoming weeks with the appropriate committees. Be on the alert of the announcement during worship and our weekly bulletins for the information that will be released.

As we look forward to the new year God is allowing us, please continue to pray for God's presence among us. We all know we are unable to bear fruit without the presence of God and providence of God. Thus, through our prayers we would be able to carry out the ministry God has given us with the fruit God has prepared for us.

Peace and Grace in Christ,
